Mindy McCorkle has decades of operations and leadership experience in restaurant operations and property management. She's held just about every role in those industries, from front-line roles to executive positions, has served on numerous boards, and countless volunteer committees. Mindy is also a Certified Art Life Coach and a Mental Health First Aider. She has too many awards and accolades to list here, and she doesn't really like talking about them anyway.

Mindy founded Enhancement Talent Development, LLC, over a decade ago. Her mission is two-fold: 1) to enhance the talent and performance of clients' teams through exceptional learning experiences and consultation and 2) inspiring and motivating individuals to explore greater self-fulfillment, higher self-awareness, and transformational thinking. When she's not speaking at conferences and team meetings, she spends time working with sales teams and management teams in a variety of industries which allows her to gather valuable insight from numerous perspectives.

As a facilitator and trainer, she brings a unique authenticity to every presentation and shares transformational insight from her experiences. She's not just regurgitating the same old concepts you've heard a thousand times, and she's not a game-changer; she's creating a whole new game! She has facilitated exceptional learning experiences for decades, impacting tens of thousands of attendees. She's a Subject Matter Expert on leadership, change management, customer service, the Employee Experience, innovative sales, and mindset change. If you've seen one of her presentations, you've witnessed the exceptional learning experiences she provides. If you haven't, you MUST!
